- Chief Justice Stuart Rabner

"Information technology for us is not an option—it's a requirement."
- Judge Glenn A. Grant, Acting Administrative Director of the Courts

eCourts is a web based application that is designed to allow attorneys, in good standing, to electronically file documents with the courts. As of July 31, 2014, eCourts was implemented statewide for the electronic filing of many Criminal Division documents that do not require a filing fee. On February 9, 2015, eCourts became available to attorneys submitting Tax Court filings.

While thousands of electronic filings by attorneys statewide have already been processed through the modern technology, plans are underway for full implementation of eCourts in all trial court divisions including expansion to the Civil and Family Divisions. Completion of this effort will bring New Jersey Superior Court into the digital age.

Attorneys will be notified by the Administrative Office of the Courts, based on a phased implementation plan, of the availability of eCourts by practice area including instructions for requesting access to the system.
